PREFACE.

The Legislature, by a provision of Law passed at their session of 1849, authorized the publication of a Catalogue of the State Library. All the officers connected with it, have been diligently engaged since May last, in carrying out and completing the required volume, and the result is now presented.

While aware of its imperfections, many of which may be hereafter corrected in future Annual Reports, the Trustees still feel a justifiable degree of pride in presenting this evidence of the regard of the State, through its constituted authorities, for the promotion of Science and Literature.

The volumes which have been received from the valuable library of the late Chancellor, are designated by the letters C. L. Those obtained by purchase from Mr. Warden, have annexed to them the letters W. C.

It would not comport with their feelings, were the Trustees to omit an expression of their obligations, and through them of the State, to M. VATTEMARE, for his unceasing, most devoted and most successful labors to promote the cause of STATE AND INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGES, and by means of which the Library has been so much enriched. His full reward is yet to come, and in its maturity, will only reach his descendants. Here, in the bosom of a mighty empire, and throughout the continent, his name will ever be inscribed as one of the earliest and ablest friends and promoters of the diffusion of knowledge.

The grave has closed over two others of the truest and most valued friends of the NEW-YORK STATE LIBRARY, one of whom, at least, the Trustees hoped to present with a copy of this Catalogue, as a testimony of their heartfelt respect and esteem. But the death of O. Rich* deprives them of the desired pleasure. It cannot, however, be otherwise than just, to express their gratitude (and indeed, that of their predecessors for many years previous to their entrance on office,) to the kind-hearted and learned American, who, in a foreign land, was one of the most uniform friends and supporters of the Library. When Irving and Prescott and Ticknor acknowledge the assistance received in the prosecution of their literary labors, from Mr. Rich, the Trustees may at least be permitted to add their remembrance of his many disinterested services.

Jonathan Goodhue, the pride and model of the American Merchant, was for nearly a quarter of a century the medium of intercourse between foreign correspondents and the Trustees. He ever refused to receive any compensation for his labors—often, doubtless, tedious, and certainly interfering with his accustomed employments. But they were always volunteered, to use his own words, "freely and cheerfully, for the promotion of Science and Learning." His memory is united with the annals of the institution, and the present tribute (all that possibly he might have consented to receive,) is now added to the many which "length of days and an unspotted life" have accumulated on his tomb.

It is not among the smallest of the gratifications incident to their arduous and unceasing duties, that the Trustees are enabled to continue their mercantile connexions with the houses of Goodhue & Co., and of O. Rich, in the persons of their sons and partners.

March, 1850.

* Formerly U. S. Consul at Valencia, in Spain; for many years acting as Agent for the purchase of books for Congress, the New-York State Library, and for numerous societies and individuals, &c. Mr. Rich died in London, January 20, 1850.

CATALOGUE

MISCELLANEOUS WORKS

IN THE

NEW-YORK STATE LIBRARY.

NOTE.—The Works in the Miscellaneous Department of the Library, when not anonymous, are lettered with the Author's name, and a brief title of the Work. In the subsequent Catalogue they are twice entered : once, Alphabetically, by the name of the author, and again, in a Systematic Classification, according to the nature of the subjects of which they treat. Each work is arranged on the shelves, Alphabetically, under the initial letter of the surname of its author. Anonymous works are lettered agreeably to their subjects, and placed, in like manner, under their initial letters. The octavos and smaller sized volumes are put on one set of shelves; the Quartos and Folios, separately, on other sets of shelves. There are, however, some few exceptions to this order. Periodical Works, such as Magazines, Registers and Reviews, Scientific Journals and Publications of Learned Societies, together with the Dictionaries, Encyclopædias and Gazetteers, and other similar Works of repeated reference, are withdrawn from the general arrangement and placed by themselves, for more convenient consultation. The Warden Collection, added to the Library in 1846, it was thought advisable to keep, likewise, by itself. The Works of this Collection had been numbered by Mr. Warden, in his published Catalogue, as they followed in his Classification. These numbers have been cancelled, the works new numbered in their order in this Catalogue, and indicated by the capital letters W. C. (with the number.) The Maps, Charts, and Atlases have been treated in a somewhat similar manner, and arranged in the Catalogue among the other Maps and Charts.

PRESENTED TO THE STATE OF NEW-YORK BY HIS HOLINESS PIUS IX.

International Agency of M. Vattemare.

[The following description is principally compiled from a communication obtained through the kind offices of the Right Rev. Bishop Hughes, at whose instance it was prepared, by one of the clergy of his diocese, and also from the official description prepared at Rome, and accompanying the medals.]

GOLD.

1. Inscription. Pius IX P. M. El. Die XVII. Cor. Die XXI. Jun. anno 1846. Effigy of the Pope, G. Cerbara fecit. Reverse: The Bust of the Holy Apostles with nimbus. Legend: Romæ, Parentes, arbitrique gentium. (A medal coined for the festival of these princes of the Apostles to perpetuate the memory of the election, and the coronation of Pope Pius, which last ceremony took place at St. Peters, on the 21st of June, 1846.)
2. Inscription. Pius IX. Pontifex Maximus. Anno 1. Effigy of the Pope, G. Cerbara, fecit. Reverse: Three figures. Sacros S. Ledis Later. Possess. VI. Idus, Nov'r, 1846. (Sacros Sedes Lateranensis possessio or possessus.) Although St. Peter in Vaticano is the largest and noblest church in Rome, St. John in Laterano is considered as preceding it in dignity. It is more ancient than the Vatican, and was before it the residence of the Pontiff. This medal was coined in honor of the ceremony of taking possession of the cathedral church. "The three figures on the reverse, represent Justice, Peace and Concord, in friendly union. These form an allegory of the amnesty granted by the Holy Father, to the political offenders, in the edict of July 16, 1846."
3. Inscription. Pius IX. Pont. Max. An. 1847. Effigy of the Pope. G. Cerbara, inc. Reverse: The Interior of the Cottage of Nazareth, with the holy family engaged in labor and domestic duties. In laboribus a juventate mea; and below, Benemerentibus ex Sodalitio S. Jos. Edmensi. This medal was struck by order of the Pope for the Holy Guild of St. Joseph at Edinburgh, on the occasion of the arrival at Rome of two members of the Guild, charged with the honor of paying its respects to the Pope. In laboribus, &c., is the motto of the Brotherhood of St. Joseph, instituted for the religious, moral and physical improvement of the working classes.
